Baking With Purpose

Fresh, quality ingredients are important to delivering a product with nutrition and value. For Apple Valley Foods, this is only the start.

Delivering a desirable and delicious product also takes an understanding of consumer's needs and desires, no matter where they reside.

Paying attention to these details is what drives our purpose.

At Apple Valley Foods, we think a lot about Quality.

To us, quality means ensuring that each of the suppliers and farmers we work with deliver only the finest, freshest, and highest quality ingredients.

For many in the food industry, quality is measured by how a food product looks and tastes. Quality may also be determined by the packaging, ingredients, scent and freshness.

For our team of pie professionals, this is simply the starting point. To us, quality means much more. For us, quality is also found in the trust our customers put in us that we work purposely to build and maintain.

Quality is found in the integrity of our team and the effort we put into the success and well-being of every Apple Valley employee.

Quality is found in the effort and passion we put into product innovation. We understand that consumers have a choice for each dollar they spend. We put the hard work in that is necessary to deliver on promises and earn their, and your trust.

We are Apple Valley Foods and baking world-class pies is our purpose.
